British Vanguard Are Reported Far West of El Agheila

BY ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press War Editor

British headquarters reported today that Allied fighter planes had strafed Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's retreating troops as far west as Zautia in Nofilia, 100 miles beyond the collapsed El Agheila front, and declared that British vanguards were now "well west" of El Agheila.

British military quarters in London said British advance forces had probably reached a point near Zautia in Nofilia in close pursuit of the Axis.

JAP BASES IN PAPUAN AREA ARE POUNDED

MacArthur's Forces Ceaselessly Bomb Enemy Lodged in New Foothold on Mambare River

LANDS UNITS ARE ACTIVE

Washington, Dec. 16.—(P)—United States bombers, raiding the Japanese installations at Buin on Bougainville island in the Solomons, met no enemy opposition, the navy reported today.

No explanation was available of the lack of opposition at Buin, considered as one of the principal Jap air bases and located about 275 miles northwest of Guadalcanal.

The navy also reported a sixth attack on Munda airfield, under construction by the Japanese of New Guinea, and the wiping out of two Japanese machine gun crews on Guadalcanal in communication No. 221.

Allied Headquarters in Australia, Dec. 16.—(P)—General MacArthur's air forces have ceaselessly bombed the Japanese lodged in a new foothold near the mouth of the Mambare river while his land troops exerted heavy pressure on the invaders' dwindling Buna area shore positions to the southeast.

Allied airmen also pounded anew the Japanese bases flanking the Papuan sector, the headquarters noon communiqué reported.

They dropped a number of 500-pound bombs on the airfield at Lae, on the northeast New Guinea coast, in the face of heavy anti-aircraft fire, and roared across the water strip to pock the Gasmata, near British airfield with a dozen 500-pounders. A covey of 12 Japanese planes came up to meet them and they shot down three and damaged two others, the communiqué said.

There were few details of the ground action but a spokesman for General MacArthur said that there was undoubtedly still heavy fighting at Sananda Point, north.

NUMBER DROWN WHEN BUS DROPS IN RIVER

Gloucester Point, Va., Dec. 16.—(P)—A "number" of persons were drowned today, state police reported, when a bus loaded with workmen plunged into the York river from a Gloucester-Yorktown ferry.

C. D. Burke, assistant manager of the Gloucester-Yorktown Ferry Company, said 25 occupants of the bus were rescued, but that it had not been determined the exact number aboard. The vehicle, carrying white and negro workmen to the Navy Mine Depot near Yorktown, toppled from the after end of the ferry into some 15 feet of water as the board was pulling out of the slip about 7:25 a. m. (EWT.)

Bethlehem, Pa., Star Will Not Shine On Christmas Eve

BY EDWARD F. CREAGH
Bethlehem, Pa., Dec. 16.—(P)—The star of Bethlehem will not shine this Christmas eve.

Nor will the kaleidoscope of lights with which this Pennsylvania city, named for the birthplace of Jesus, annually has commemorated his coming.

The pale light that shines will be that of beeswax candles, traditional among the Moravian residents whose ancestors founded this Bethlehem, and of steel mill furnaces, shielded from sky-borne disturbances of the Christmas peace. The streets will be dark, but as Mayor Robert Pfeiffer says, "it wouldn't be right for them to be all lit up when our boys are out in the darkness fighting for us."

The 90-foot man-made Christmas star that shone 20 miles from South Mountain and the eight to ten miles of colored lights that drew crowds of shoppers to Bethlehem in the days before gasoline rationing—they will be missing.

WORK-WEARY CONGRESS IS ADJOURNING

Historic Two-Year Legislative Session to End At Close of the Day's Business

ITS RECORD REVIEWED

BY ALEX H. SINGLETON
Washington, Dec. 16.—(P)—

Work-worn and weary, the 77th congress comes to the end of its legislative life today after an historic two-year struggle, first with the problems of a tremulous peace, then with the robust job of arming the nation for global war.

The house and senate formally agreed to adjourn at the close of today's business, furnishing a breathing spell until the new congress takes over on Jan. 6.

Longest in history, the 77th congress was in session 715 days. The house met on 404 legislative days. Five senators and 14 representatives died during the two years.

The shadows of war already were stretching eastward from Asia, westward from Europe, when the present congress first convened in January, 1941. And, as they lengthened, there was fashioned for the nation one of the greatest military programs in all history.

Unstintingly, the lawmakers opened wide the country's purse strings to provide funds for a war machine. All in all, approximately $205,000,000,000 was appropriated during the two years, and of that total $192,000,000,000 was earmarked for war.

By contrast, about $46,000,000,000 was appropriated in 1917-18 for the first World War. Spending between the two conflicts reached its lowest point, in 1924 and 1925, when the 68th congress voted a total of $7,900,000,000.

To help pay the bills, new taxes were piled on both business and private citizens. In 1942, congress found $2,553,000,000 in new revenue.

Boston Again Visited By A Costly Blaze

Boston, Dec. 16.—(P)—Boston's third disastrous fire in a month today sent more than 65 firemen and coast guardsmen to hospitals and wrecked the five story brick Amory building in the heart of the downtown shopping district with a loss estimated officially at "more than $300,000," and possibly as high as $1,000,000.

A detail of 160 seamen from the coast guard was called to aid the Boston fire department, hard-hit by recent casualties and by losses of members of the armed services. Upward-rushing flames were spread rapidly by illuminating gas pouring from a two-inch basement feed pipe, and 29 firemen and approximately 40 coast guardsmen, inexperienced in fire fighting, were felled by injuries and smoke inhalation.

The six-story brick structure, was stocked with Christmas clothing, including a number of valuable fur coats.

The first alarm was pulled shortly before midnight. Two weeks ago firemen fought the Coconut Grove night club fire that took the lives of 488 persons, and two weeks prior to that six firemen were killed and more than 40 injured, some permanently, in an east Boston building fire.

The Burns Agency placed its loss at $75,000, which included between 30 and 40 automobiles, new and used, destroyed. Baldwin Brothers owner of the building, estimated their loss at $80,000.

$155,000 Fire Loss In Erie

Erie, Dec. 16.—(P)—Damage unofficially estimated at $155,000 was caused by a two-alarm fire that swept through the Robert Y. Burns automobile agency here today and forced 30 persons living nearby to flee their homes.

Assistant Fire Chief Edward P. Flanagan said the fire started in the agency's paint shop. Fed by gas and oil, the flames quickly spread, and the smoke forced 11 residents of apartments on the second floor of the building, as well as those living nearby, to leave their homes.

The Burns Agency placed its loss at $75,000, which included between 30 and 40 automobiles, new and used, destroyed. Baldwin Brothers owner of the building, estimated their loss at $80,000.

SEVEN OFFICERS DIE IN CRASH OF BOMBER

St. Louis, Dec. 16.—(P)—An army bomber carried seven men to their deaths as it crashed and burned last night a few minutes after taking off from Lambert-St. Louis airport. Two others escaped.

The plane grazed the roof of a barn before it nosed to the ground, burst into flames and set fire to the farm house of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Crouse.

Mrs. Crouse bundled her two-month-old daughter, Barbara, in a quilt and escaped from the burning house.

Rising Costs Cause Hike In Paper Prices

More Than Half of Daily Publications Report Boosts In A Year

SURVEY INCOMPLETE

BY GARETH MUCHMORE
New York, Dec. 16.—(P)—Rising costs have caused more than half the daily newspapers in the United States to raise at least some portion of their circulation rate structure since the start of the war in 1939, Cranston Williams, general manager of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, said today.

The ANPA is conducting a survey of daily newspapers on circulation rate changes in 1942, and while still far from complete, returns thus far show 64 papers have announced advances.

Earlier this year, before many of the increases were made, a survey of 1,717 newspapers replied showed the largest number, 506, were receiving 1 cent per single copy at retail. A year earlier 794 out of 1,821 replies, were receiving 5 cents the next.

BULLETINS

London, Dec. 16.—(P)—Belgian government sources here reported today that a father in Brussels had been sentenced to nine months for what the Germans apparently regard as a new crime: He christened his newborn son "Winston."

Harrisburg, Dec. 16.—(P)—Pennsylvania's huge salvage program resumed operation under voluntary directors today following a brief dispute between federal and state officials over authority in conducting the wartime scrap campaign.

"Smileage Rationing" Party To Be Attended By Henderson

Baltimore, Dec. 16.—(P)—Tomorrow night you can think of Leon Henderson and smile.

The federal price administrator has accepted an invitation to a coffees, sugarless, butterless, meatless dinner in Baltimore.

He will be the honored guest of the 52 members of Local Rationing Board No. 234.3, which dreamed up the idea of a so-called "smileage rationing" party.

If the OPA director eats, he'll eat fish like all the rest of the guests. And if he rides to the dinner, he'll ride on a street car.

In an invitation as complicated as any rationing form, Henderson and the other guests were required.

TWO SURVIVE AFTER CRASH OF TRANSPORT

Wreck of Huge Western Airlines Plane Located in Desert 55 Miles South of Salt Lake City

OFFICERS ARE VICTIMS

Fairfield, Utah, Dec. 16.—(P)—A doughty 23-year-old leatherneck tightened his safety belt and rode out a Western Airlines transport crash that killed 17 and left a second survivor battling for his life today.

Lieut. A. F. Gardner, of Alexander, N. Y., and the U. S. Marine Corps, smiled "through" a scratched, bruised face from his hospital bed at Lehi as he said, "I nearly froze to death, but I'm lucky to be here."

A. J. Mallett, of Springfield, Ark., the only other person aboard to escape death when the big ship toppled into a stretch of sagebrush desert about 55 miles south of Salt Lake City yesterday, was much more seriously hurt than the marine.

Four women, including Stewardess Cleo Booth, of Los Angeles, two military officers, eight other men passengers and three crew members died in the crash, some of them lingeringly, as Lieutenant Gardner told of "wailing screaming and groaning" in the smashed cabin.

The pilot apparently was groping for the emergency landing field at Fairfield, four miles from the crash spot, as the ship was pointed northward. It had failed to report by radio after taking off from Los Angeles.

Two of the victims were W. O. Hart, 57, co-publisher of the Orange (Calif.) Daily News since 1908, who had attended a loan company directors' meeting in Salt Lake City, and Donald E. Cummings, 42, of Denver, head of the industrial hygiene department of the University of Colorado.

The women passengers were Mrs. Leona Rosell, Salt Lake City; Mrs. Carolyn Weersing, Glendale, Calif.; and Mrs. George Skylstead, Las Vegas, Nev.

The others killed were Lieut. Thomas A. Baldwin of the U. S. Navy, Kellogg, Iowa; Second Lieut. Hugh E. McCae of the U. S. Army Air Corps, believed to be from La Grange, Ill.; Pilot Edward J. Loeffler, Glendale, Calif.; Captain J. Clifford Lee, Burbank, Calif.; Douglas Soule, St. Petersburg, Fla.; co-pilot-trainee; Knight Bennett, Glendale; Fred Lewis, Los Angeles; Huy Talbot, Jr., Great Falls, Mont.; Airlines traffic manager; J. R. Pratt, Salt Lake City; R. H. Hultman, Omaha, and Richard W. James, Salt Lake City.

Gardner suffered a fractured right leg and shoulder injuries, but, fearful that gasoline-fueled flames might break out any moment, he dragged him out of the ship. However, it did not burn.

The marine shivered through the bitter night of the Cedar Valley desert before rescuers reached the lonely spot nearly 12 hours later.

STRIKE UNSETTLED

New York, Dec. 16.—(P)—The Newspaper and Mail Deliveries Union and the Publishers Association of New York ended separate all-night meetings early today, failing to effect a settlement of the strike which has kept most of the city's newspapers out of general circulation since Sunday evening.

Representatives of the groups said, however, that further conferences would be held later today.

COASTING FATALITY

Easton, Dec. 16.—(P)—William Weaver, 16, a pupil at Easton high school, died today in Easton hospital from injuries suffered last night when thrown from his sled as it ran into a curb while he was coasting.

Reno Named To Position On High Court

Harrisburg, Dec. 16.—(P)—Attorney General Claude T. Reno, 60-year-old Allentown lawyer, is Governor James' appointee to the state superior court, filling a vacancy caused by the death of Judge Jesse E. B. Cunningham.

The governor announced the appointment yesterday, explaining he was "very pleased to have the opportunity of putting Claude on the bench."

Reno will not take his oath of office until after the first of the year because of work he has to clean up in the attorney general's department.

Reports have E. Russell Shockley, deputy attorney general, of Harrisburg, R. D. 3, scheduled to succeed Reno although James' only comment was "we have a young man in mind but don't want to shock him."

Reno was named head of the state justice department in 1939 and since then has been upheld in every case argued personally before the supreme court.

Born April 4, 1882, at Lyons, Berks county, Reno was educated in Allentown high school, Muhlenberg college and Dickinson school of law, where he was a classmate of Governor James.

From 1908 to 1912 he was Lehigh county solicitor and before coming to the county common pleas court in 1921 he served as a member of the state house of representatives and solicitor for Allentown city and school district.

Milk Hiked In Three Areas

Harrisburg, Dec. 16.—(P)—Milk prices have been boosted for both consumers and producers in the three major milk-marketing areas of Pittsburgh, Scranton and Wilkes-Barre, and Erie.

Under a milk commission order approved yesterday and Governor James' prices of fluid milk and cream to make ice cream and butter were raised, effective Jan. 1, 1943, pending action of the Office of Price Administration and other emergency agencies.

Proposal To Close Stores On December 26 To Be Discussed

A meeting of the retail committee of the Chamber of Commerce was held this morning to consider whether any action should be taken on the proposal to close stores on Saturday, December 26.

In view of the importance of the question, it was felt that an open meeting should be held to give all merchants an opportunity to express their views.

Accordingly a meeting will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow, Thursday, in the offices of the Warren Chamber of Commerce. In order to secure as widespread an opinion as possible, it is urged that every merchant in Warren, regardless of whether a member of the Chamber or not, should either attend or send a representative.

At many open meetings, it was pointed out, the attendance has been made up only of the larger stores and of stores in the central part of the community. The retail committee hopes that the Thursday meeting will be attended by all merchants, both large and small, whether doing business in the central part of the borough or in the outskirts. All members are urged to be there promptly at 10 a. m.

Town Declares Holiday To Welcome Its Hero

Nesquehoning, Dec. 16.—(P)—Bedecked in flags, this little coal-mining town declared a holiday today to welcome home its hero son, 2nd Lieut. John J. De Angelis, 23, navigator of the plane which carried Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker on an inspection tour of Pacific bases and was forced down at sea Oct. 21.

Lieut. De Angelis survived an ordeal of 22 days at sea on one of the three rubber life rafts which kept Rickenbacker and six of the seven army airmen aboard the plane safe until rescuers located them.

With two companions, De Angelis was found on a small Pacific island.

New Governor Is Opposed To Brooks Plan

Harrisburg, Dec. 16.—(P)—Governor-Elect Edward Martin today declared he had "complete confidence" in the present state system of operating Pennsylvania's huge liquor monopoly.

He made the statement at his press conference in commenting on published reports there was sentiment among "responsible Republican leaders" for eradication of the state operated liquor system with a return to the old Brooks high license law of pre-prohibition days under which liquor licenses were granted by county courts.

Reports that return to the old county system was under consideration came last week end in the midst of criticism of the Liquor Board's policies as a result of a statewide shortage of low-priced liquors.

Sale of Horse Meat Is Banned by Penn'a Law

Harrisburg, Dec. 16.—(P)—Old Dobbin will never grace a Pennsylvania dinner table smothered in onions or medium done—unless state laws are changed.

Despite the fact that some states are permitting the sale of horse meat because of the growing shortage of beef, Pennsylvania not only bans the sale of horse flesh for human consumption but the state meat hygiene act specifically says it is "unwholesome and unfit" to eat.

John H. Light, secretary of agriculture, explained that the sale of horse meat is prohibited under an act of 1929 which resulted from "instances in which the meat, ostensibly to be used for dog food, was used in poorer districts for beef."

Reno will not take his oath of office until after the first of the year because of work he has to clean up in the attorney general's department.

Reports have E. Russell Shockley, deputy attorney general, of Harrisburg, R. D. 3, scheduled to succeed Reno although James' only comment was "we have a young man in mind but don't want to shock him."

WEDGE DRIVEN IN SOVIET LINE AT LEFT WING

Red Star, the Soviet army newspaper, said the Germans struck heavily and repeatedly at positions occupied only recently by the Russians who had not had time to consolidate them.

Dispatches from the front indicated that the enemy had advanced toward a water line and along an important road, their heavy artillery pounding a path before them and their infantry pushing into salients in the wake of the tanks.

The Red army's offensive on the central front northwest of Moscow, however, rolled steadily on through snow-covered forests studded with Nazi defenses.

The Russian positions on this front were described as roughly 190 miles west of Kalinin in the Velikiye Luki region, Pravda, the Communist party organ, said that despite violent counterattacks several basic German defense points in the minefields west of Rzhev had been captured.

The Axis attacks were described as evidently the strongest they have been able to muster since the beginning of the Russians' winter offensive Nov. 19 but the dispatches declared there was still no sign that they had succeeded in shattering the encircling ring in which they were caught before Stalingrad.

Some German advanced units in the fresh counteroffensive were even forced to retreat, the Russians reported, but others were managing to hold ground until reserves could be brought up.

The Russian pace on other parts of the long winter front was slowing, but crushing, and in the territory west of Rzhev soldiers of the Red army slogged into two more villages after violent battle.

$100,000 Fire Loss In Hotel

Pittsburgh, Dec. 16.—(P)—Estimates of damage from the William Penn Hotel sub-basement fire which burned for 21 hours and 23 minutes before officially being declared out last night, ranged beyond $100,000 today.

Manager Thomas T. Troy said, however, it would be many days before an accurate figure could be obtained. Despite loss of valuable coffee, sugar and foodstuffs in the charred and flooded storage rooms, service was virtually normal in all except the Chatterbox Night Club.

Fire Chief Edward Kerr said the fire was "the worst in my years with the department" because of the acid smoke, which caused the death of Fireman Michael Burke, 31, overcame 150 others and sent 35 more to hospitals.

All but two of the victims were reported doing well.

The blaze, discovered at 11:20 o'clock Monday night, was declared out at 8:42 last night. It burned for 21 hours and 23 minutes.

Donations For Fund Lag But Alias Santa Claus Is Hopeful

From your fireside as you wrap gaily colored paper and tinsel on packages of Christmas gifts for loved ones won't you pause for just a moment. Think of the hungry faces and the yearning eyes on the little tots who have seen scanning the things in the store windows at this Yuletide.

Think of the homes that Santa Claus will forget unless in your bounty you take heed. Think what a little thing it is to give a dollar or two to make somebody happy. Simple, isn't it. Just a moment to slip a bill into an envelope or to sign a check and mail it to the Alias Santa Claus Club, care the Times-Mirror. Why not?

Funds are not coming in the way they should. Perhaps it is the multiplicity of causes for which solicitation is being made; perhaps it is just lethargy, and perhaps our sensibilities have been dulled by the horrors of war. But whatever it is the gifts are lagging.

To that end a series of games will be played next Monday night in the rooms over the Savoy Restaurant. The American Legion has donated the use of all its equipment for the evening's fun. Cash and gifts of merchandise will be given the lucky folk and a huge crowd should be in attendance. Tickets will be on sale today and at many places about the city purchases can be made.

It is going to be fun and mayhap profitable fun, too, next Monday night and here's hoping the fund gets a large amount of money as the need is great.

Salvation Army Christmas Baskets Replaced By Checks

According to Major Walter Daniels, announcement today the usual Christmas baskets will be replaced this year by Christmas checks to the needy of Warren.

This new system has been in force for some years in larger communities with success, and thus enables the needy family to go to a specified store and choose for themselves the articles they desire.

The size of the Christmas check will be determined by the size of the family, and the response of the general public, they who desire to make a contribution to the Christmas cheer fund make the checks payable to the Salvation Army, Warren. Canned goods received through contributions will be distributed directly to needy families in Warren.

The checks will be given to the families Christmas week and will be valid on December 23 and 24.

TIMES TOPICS

IN CLEVELAND HOSPITAL

Pearl Smith, 221 Second avenue, who went to the Cleveland Clinic hospital a few weeks ago for treatment, will be confined there for at least two weeks, her friends will be interested to learn.

AUXILIARY MEETING

Warren County Defense Corps Auxiliary will meet Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the armory. All members should be present to discuss a possible change in the schedule of meetings for the new year. New members are still needed.

OLD LAMP POSTS GONE

Three old lamp posts that have stood for years in front of business places have been taken down. The posts were obsolete and attracted the eye of Salvage Chairman Corbett. They weighed over 2400 pounds and were of excellent cast metal of the sort of which there is at the present time the greatest scarcity.

PLAN MORTGAGE BURNING

The next regular meeting of the Warren Lodge of Moose will be held on Wednesday evening, Dec. 16th, at 8 o'clock. Complete plans for the celebration of the burning of their mortgage will be announced and the details of the next membership drive will be discussed. Following the business session a buffet lunch will be featured.

DEER HIDES SAVED

Game Protector George Norris has about four score hides from deer shot in the county by hunters which he will ship to processing plants where the hides will be tanned and made into vests and other articles for the soldiers and sailors who are stationed in places where the cold is intense. Mr. Norris is hopeful that all who have deer hides will turn them in as soon as possible.

BLITZ BUGGY READY

In the lobby of the Warren National Bank a wheeled cart labeled "Blitz Buggy" is equipped and ready for use in any emergency that may arise in the bank building and a group of employees is trained to handle it. On the buggy is a pump, fire extinguisher, buckets of sand, asbestos gloves, an axe, shovels and other equipment for handling bombs, fires, etc. The buggy and equipment was the work of the late Leonard Swanson and it attracts much attention.

TO CONSERVE TIN

Salvage Chairman Willie T. Corbett and members of the salvage committee are preparing to ask the Town Council for the passage of an ordinance prohibiting the placing of tin cans in the city garbage. The need of tin is great and while many are salvaging their cans scores are refusing to do so and Mr. Corbett feels that if compelled to do so all will act. To that end it expected that at the next session of the Town Council the ordinance will make its appearance for passage. Many towns and cities throughout the state have such legislation on their books and are saving cans in notable quantities. Shipment of the salvaged cans must be made in carload lots to the detinning plants and the collection of the cans will not be made until after the first of the coming year.

TIMES TOPICS

OPEN THIS EVENING

The postoffice will be open from 7 to 9 this evening for the convenience of the patrons.

DAD DELIVERS TOYS

"Dad" Allen, first aide to Santa Claus has delivered to the Central Fire Station his installment of filling for old Santa's pack. During the past months Dad has fashioned two borough truck loads of little rocking chairs, tables and other practical toys dear to the childish hearts. The firemen however cannot paint the toys as they are unable to get the paint needed. Due to other work they have also refrained from any program of toy repair this year.

STUDENTS COMING

Miss Dorothy E. Frick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Frick, 102 Main avenue, and Lawrence E. Beyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clair Beyer, 104 Home street, will leave Syracuse University campus on Saturday for a two-week Christmas holiday and will resume classes on January 4. Miss Frick is a freshman enrolled in the College of Fine Arts preparing to major in illustration. Beyer is a freshman in the same school, to major in architecture.

MUST SURRENDER BOOKS

Now what's going to happen to the bunch of fellows who "drop in for a cup of coffee"? The Office of Price Administration has ruled that the persons who eat 14 meals or more at the same restaurant or boarding house must give their sugar and coffee ration book to the owner of the establishment. Formerly the deadline was 12 meals for sugar and 14 for coffee but since the two commodities are rationed with the same book the rule had to be standardized.

TURKEY PRICES UP

Turkey for the 1942 Thanksgiving ranged from 46 to 53 cents per pound at which point the price scale was pegged after rising steadily for the last few years.

FIRST PUMP ARRIVES

The first of the emergency fire pumps to be given the city by the National Council of Defense has arrived. It is extremely mobile and will pump 500 gallons of water per minute. Made by the Chrysler Company it is a fine piece of apparatus. Other pumps are still to arrive.

HAS BEEN INDUCTED

It will interest friends of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Langhans, Crescent Park, to know that their son, Edward, a junior at University of Rochester, has been accepted for enlistment and inducted into the Army Air Corps. He will arrive home tomorrow for his holiday vacation. Mrs. Ruth Lott, daughter of the Langhans, will arrive December 24 to spend Christmas with her family.

JR. HISTORICAL SOCIETIES

In some of the county schools steps have been taken for the organization of Junior Historical Societies. The Pennsylvania State Society is sponsoring the organization of the Junior organizations as an extra-curricular activity. Packets of material for teachers who are interested have been received at the office of the County Superintendent of Schools. A number of the packets have been given out to county schools and any teacher desiring to get such an organization under way can receive a packet.

Santa Claus To Greet Tots At Elks Club On Saturday

At the meeting of Warren Lodge No. 223, B. P. O. Elks, held last evening plans were announced for the annual Christmas party for children of Warren to be held next Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Exalted Ruler H. D. Baker announced that for the 22nd consecutive year Santa Claus will make a personal appearance and will give to each little tot an orange and box of candy.

The party as usual, will be held at the club house, at the corner of Fourth avenue and Hickory street, with the line forming on Fourth avenue. All children under twelve years of age are cordially invited to be on hand to greet St. Nicholas.

In a communication received from Santa Claus by Elk officials, he stated that he positively will be at the club at 2:30 o'clock in time to take charge of the party.

Leaders Of Girl Scouts Hear Carols

At last night's meeting of the Warren County Girl Scout Leaders' Association, held at the home of Mrs. Harold Stohl, 27 Brook street, Miss Hulda Angermann taught the Christmas carols which will be used by various Girl Scout caroling groups during the coming holiday season.

Four discussion groups were conducted by the following leaders: Tolerance, Mrs. A. J. Weiler; Freedom and Democracy, Mrs. R. W. Mackay; Right Attitude Toward Life, Mrs. Stohl; Girl Scout Code, Mrs. Harry Leafstrom.

To conclude, refreshments were served by officers of the group: Mrs. Weiler, president; Mrs. Leafstrom, vice president; Mrs. Stohl, program chairman.

YOUNGVILLE NEWS

Youngville, Dec. 16 — The Grange will hold a Christmas party on Wednesday evening at 7:30 and it will be held in conjunction with the Juvenile Grange. The young people will help in the program. There will be plenty of music and gifts to exchange. Each one who attends is asked to bring a 10c gift and each family a pound of candy for the refreshments.

HAVE TURKEY DINNER

On Monday night the annual Christmas turkey dinner of the Business and Professional women's club was held at the Forge club house. Mrs. Rose Huber and her committee had the room gay with tree and trimmings and a beautifully appointed long table artistically done in the seasons colors.

In the absence of the President Mrs. Earl Walter, Mrs. Edith Young took the chair for the business meeting. A report of the work of the Browns, which are sponsored by the club was given by Mrs. Edith Getts. The leaders for the new groups are Mrs. Wade Ransom, Mrs. William Shortt and Mrs. Annabelle Pierce. The club voted $5.00 to help in the initial expenses. A request was received from the community Christmas tree committee for both financial assistance and ladies to help with the candy. Both requests were granted. Mrs. Hazel Hale, Mrs. Rose Huber and Mrs. Edith Getts were appointed on a committee to assist in this treat.

Miss Goldana Hill gave a report concerning the work of Miss Dorothy Wirt, one of the clubs members who is now a W.A.A.C. She has been taking work in preparation to entering an officers training camp.

Mrs. Santa Claus arrived then with gifts for all, besides plenty of jokes. The rest of the evening was spent in singing and games.

TIMES TOPICS

BROTHERHOOD PARTY

The Men's Brotherhood of the First Lutheran church will have wives of members as guests for a tureen dinner at 6:30 p. m. Thursday in the church parlors. Each one attending is asked to bring bread and butter; also a ten-cent gift for exchange.

SPECIAL ASSEMBLIES

Several pre-vacation assemblies have been arranged at the high school for the remainder of this week. Tomorrow afternoon there will be two assembly periods, with singing in charge of Carroll A. Fowler. On Friday morning, football letters for the past season will be awarded and that same afternoon Harry Summers will conduct a band assembly.

TIMES TOPICS

MRS. FISHER GOT DEER

Mrs. Paul Fisher, Conewango avenue extension, shot a nine point deer weighing 175 pounds.

SMALL NUMBER REGISTER

Teen age registrants before the two local draft boards are few in number as Draft Board No. 1 has only registered 16 while Draft Board No. 2 has had only 11.

VFW MEETING

Every member of Post 631, VFW, is asked to be present to transact important business at the regular meeting at eight o'clock Thursday evening in the post rooms. Lunch will follow the business session.

HAS WON SCHOLARSHIP

Charles Johnson a graduate of the Youngville High School has been awarded the State Scholarship for Warren County this year. The scholarship amounts to $100 per year for four years toward a Pennsylvania College education.

WILL NAME BOARD

Stockholders of the First National Bank of Warren will hold their 79th annual meeting on Tuesday, January 12, for the purpose of electing a board of directors and transacting other important business.

STUDENT PROGRAM

Pupils of the McClintock school will present their annual Christmas program at two o'clock Thursday afternoon and invite all parents and interested friends. This will take the place of the regular December meeting of McClintock PTA.

ATTRACTIVE CALENDAR

The 1943 edition of the Warren Bank and Trust Company calendar is now being distributed to the bank's customers and friends. The photograph on this year's calendar shows the beautiful little Hessel Valley Evangelical Lutheran Church (Augustana Synod), Chancellers Valley, in color.

TO ATTEND CONVENTION

A. N. Hunter, of Mead township and L. J. Eighmey, of Youngville are delegates to the Convention of School Directors of the state to be held at Harrisburg December 28-30. Both are planning on attending the gathering, as representatives of the county director's organization.

NO BANQUET THIS YEAR

Warren's Masonic bodies will not stage a banquet this year on December 31st, St. John's Day. Instead due to the war conditions they will arrange a program of entertainment and a social hour for the members of both lodges and forego the usual banquet.

NO GREENS BONFIRE

It will be a disappointment to many that there will be no outdoor burning-of-the-greens ceremony this holiday season by local Girl Scouts, but council leaders have deemed it not in keeping with the wartime program of surprise blackouts and conservation. Instead, a Twelfth Night party will be held indoors, the details to be worked out and announced later.

FIRST AID BOOKLETS

The North Warren Jr. Hi-Y club has distributed 200 first aid booklets received from the Defense Council and next week will distribute another 200. They've also started an active campaign for tin can salvage in cooperation with the local and nationwide scrap drive. As a topper to the intensive work of the last few weeks, the club has planned a Christmas party for Friday evening to be held in the Community House. This is an annual affair and promises to be as good this year as any ever. The program includes movies, games and a top-notch dinner, served by a committee of mothers.

COLORFUL LECTURER

Undeclared wars, revolutions, military uprisings, political murders, intimidation by hand grenades, poisonings and sword slashing mixed with earthquakes, tidal waves, typhoons and cholera epidemics have been part of the colorful life of Foreign Correspondent James R. Young, who will tell of his thirteen years in Japan when he speaks tomorrow night at the Woman's Club as the first number of the Y. M. C. A. Lecture Forum.

Known as Jimmy Young throughout the Orient, where he operated a news service bureau, managed an American newspaper, sold color comics and worked on a Japanese newspaper, the world heard much of him last year when he was imprisoned by Japanese police for 61 days in solitary confinement.

Tomorrow night's speaker is youthful, but a veteran in the newspaper business. He started in Illinois, his native state. His foreign service began with a trip to Africa with his cousin, the late E. W. Scripps, on a luxurious yacht cruise. Paul Patterson, an uncle, and publisher of the Baltimore Sun, started him out as a police reporter. Next Young showed up in Germany and shipped as a sailor to Japan.

Young, who is author of a current best seller, "Behind the Rising Sun," was one of five correspondents to attend the ancient ceremonies for the coronation of the present Emperor of Japan.

Although he was a friend of hundreds of high placed Japanese business people and government officials, the secret police held him incommunicado and after a secret trial, the Yankee at the Mikado's court decided he'd better head for United States, although the judge, in handing him a suspended six months' sentence, invited him to remain, "to better understand Japan's peaceful aims and manifest destiny."

EVERY KITCHEN A TIN MINE

Uncle Sam will need about 100,000 tons of tin in 1943 to make food cans for soldiers and civilians—as well as for cannon, machine guns, gas-mask canisters, first aid kits and a host of other weapons and medical supplies containing tin.

The Can Manufacturers Institute tells us that nine-tenths of our tin requirements used to come from Malaya, Java, Sumatra and other Far Eastern places now controlled by the Japanese. The United States produces practically no tin at all. We're receiving a small amount from Bolivia—if and when the boats are able to slip by enemy submarines.

So—the shortage of tin goes right down to every housewife's doorstep. Every kitchen is a tin mine. If we are to continue building reserve stocks of canned foods for armed force, civilian and lend-lease needs; if we are to continue backing up our soldiers with all the necessary war equipment, then it's up to every American woman to see that not one single can is thrown away, but is given to the government.

And remember—for every pound of tin you save you also save 98 to 99 pounds of steel. So help Uncle Sam—and survive!

BOOST FOR T. B. SOCIETY

Many fine compliments have been paid the work of the Warren County Tuberculosis Society made possible through the sale of Christmas Seals, but it is seldom that any person pays a higher tribute than that which is contained in the following letter which is self-explanatory:

"Sugar Grove, Dec. 3, 1942.

"Warren County Tuberculosis Society: Enclosed find $1.00 for Christmas Seals which came addressed to Gerald Beck, Sugar Grove, Pa., R. D. 3. As he is my son and has been in the service for six months I will send the dollar to you. I feel we need to do everything possible to help this worthy cause and know my son feels the same way. Yours respectively, Mrs. Warner Beck."

The 77th congress, longest in history, which adjourns today leaves a tempestuous record of pre-war battles over foreign policies, of sharp skirmishes between isolationists and interventionists; and then of sudden cohesion on war measures as bombs fell on Pearl Harbor.

How are your Christmas finances holding out?

And life's latest sands are its sands of gold!

Washington In Wartime

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Well, gasoline rationing is here and I think no popular reaction has been more disappointing to the men in charge of the homefront battle than the opposition to rationing that has come from some quarters.

Actually, not since the war started has the Administration approached any step considered necessary to winning the war with such caution.

Last spring, five months after we entered the war, nationwide gasoline rationing as a means to conserving rubber was considered inevitable. As long ago as that, statisticians could show that unless some such action was taken, about 20,000,000 of our 27,000,000 passenger cars would be idle for lack of tires by the end of 1943 or early in 1944.

THE present rationing program would have gone into effect in midsummer if bitter resentment to it hadn't spread over the middle west and western states. Convinced that various agencies had made a muddle out of the rubber business and that an informed public would welcome sacrifices to meet this wartime emergency, President Roosevelt asked Bernard M. Baruch and his fact-finding committee to bring some kind of order out of the chaos.

Baruch and his associates put all the facts together in an exderly sequence and they endeavored to show that "mileage rationing" is the only known solution to the rubber shortage problem.

Why "mileage rationing"? Because, except for the motorists in the east (where there is a gasoline shortage due to lack of transportation facilities), the powers that be don't give two whoops how much gasoline you use, provided you don't use it in driving your car. If you live outside the east, you can pour it on the ground, start fires with it, do anything you like except use it to consume rubber.

THE Baruch committee and the administration thought this would be clear to everybody. It wasn't. Isn't even now.

The legitimate objection to "mileage" rationing is that in many sections of the country transportation problems (distances to be traveled, lack of any other means of travel, etc.) are different from those in other areas and that blanket rationing regulations for the entire country work an undue hardship on these communities.

The government is well aware of that. Already OPA Director Eastman is conducting a national survey of the effects of mileage rationing which may be the basis for new regulations to right these wrongs.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS AND SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Claudette Colbert, Annabella, and other movie queens were squeezing baskets of lemons for lemonade for soldiers at one of the cantines. Practical Annabella remarked, "Now we'll have the whitest hands in pictures, heh, heh!" Thus proving there's always unexpected joy to be found in service.

Edward Arnold, going into "The Youngest Profession" after his bond-selling tour, is almost entirely penniless—another proof of same.

Jane Wyman, back from her bond-selling through East and South, left something like a million dollars' worth of costume jewelry behind her—a million dollars figured in bond orders it brought as she auctioned the pieces in various cities. Total cost to the star, as she figures it on the set of "Forty Whacks," was $14.50.

"PAGING Mr. Greenback"—a musical appeal to buy bonds—makes a zingful finale to "Presenting Lily Mars." It's sung by Judy Garland and a workers' chorus before a huge backdrop representing the Capitol.

Contribution of Bette Davis, queen of tragedy, to the Warner all-star potpourri called "Thank You Lucky Stars" will be a jitterbug number.

A between-scenes gin-rummy game started with "Action in the North Atlantic" wound up after five weeks with Sam Levene writing a $275 check for the Hollywood Canteen. The check was Levene's but the donor was new actor Bernard Ziville—the winner.

More cut-ups on that set. His face a black mask of oil, Raymond Massey as captain of the torpedoed tanker was "rescuing" the scene in which he kneels on a life raft and hurls curses at a Nazi submarine. "Do you want one knee on the raft or both of them?" he asked Director Lloyd Bacon. "Alan Hale protested: 'Don't let him get up on one knee. They'll think he's Jolson!'"

FROM England where he's directing Robert Donat in "Saboteur" Agent Harold Bucquet writes of his first air raid alarm. As the sirens moaned Bucquet was to be seeking the shelter, but noticed that none of the others seemed perturbed. "We've a spotter on the roof," Donat explained. "If the planes come our way, he sounds a bell on the stage." They went back to work—then the bell rang. The crew and players marched out. The director headed for the shelter. No one was there. He found them all on the roof—looking for the raiders.

Hope's sequence in "Star Spangled Rhythm" required him to be immersed in a bathtub full of suds—the latter supplied by a prop man who mixed them in a bucket, dabbed them on the Hope torso. After the seventh such sneaking, Hope looked up at the proper. "You do this well," he said. "What are you doing Saturday night?"

Supervisors Pay Visit To Control Post

Warren county's supervisors and auditors who met in their annual convention at the Court House yesterday afternoon following what was perhaps one of the most interesting and instructive gatherings of the kind ever held. Due to the influence of the war the duties of the supervisors have been greatly augmented and Secretary Thomson of the state association outlined many of these in his address during the concluding session. Federal restrictions on gasoline, tires, etc., were discussed and other articles used in the work of the townships was commented upon. Secretary Thomson asked that each supervisor work to the best of his ability to carry out the war effort in his community of which the supervisors are the leaders.

H. O. Wheelock, of the state highway department also spoke on phases of the highway work affected by the war. The halting of new construction except that directly needed for the success of the war was commented upon and his talk was of great interest.

Election of officers was held before adjournment and Edward Archbold of Brokenstraw township was chosen as president. H. A. Ludwick, is vice president; M. L. Wilcox is secretary and Edward Archbold was chosen as delegate to the state convention to be held at Harrisburg with Frank Harvey as alternate.

At the conclusion of the sessions at the Court House the group was given a view of the Warren Control Center and the excellent equipment there excited much comment. Many of the visit-

Early Mailing Reminder Is Issued Again

According to a reminder from the Post Office Department in Washington some of the public—but not enough—are heeding the warnings that Christmas gifts must be mailed this year earlier than ever before. If reports from seven of the largest post offices in the United States prove to be typical, six of these offices, queried on Christmas mailings, reported that gift parcels had started moving through the mails from 10 to 12 days earlier than in previous years. The seventh reported some rise in parcel post but no broad gain in Christmas mailings. Christmas cards—one of the most difficult problems because of the public's habit of mailing them in a last-minute deluge—also have started to move, but in only small numbers.

But, postal officials warn, the early mailings are not yet in sufficient volume to prevent delay in deliveries of gifts until after Christmas unless mailings are increased sharply at once, and practically completed by December 15. Wartime burdens on transportation and on the postal service make it essential that the peak of mailings be far earlier than in normal times.

"There has never been a time in the history of the postal service when there was more necessity for the public to mail parcels and cards early if delivery is to be made by Christmas."

Soldiers, on organized troop movements in the U. S., travel approximately 700,000 passenger-miles a month.

TWO GIRLS AND A MAN

Chapter 14

Voice From The Past

ON THE fast, wild drive from Frisco to Carmel, Carlos sketched the script for Rita, talking sometimes with both hands, while Rita grabbed the wheel to keep the speeding car on the white highway. It was a good story, Rita acknowledged. It had Carlos' usual verve, his usual cock-eyed characters doing impossible delightful things. She found herself laughing frequently at Carlos' genius for amusing.

Rita relaxed even as she argued points of plot structure. Gradually she began to enjoy the beauty of their surroundings. Wide, fresh green fields swept away from the high back to distant hills. Small towns approached them, were left behind.

They slipped through Monterey and drove along the winding coast road with its dark pines marching down to the sloping white sandy beach. At seven o'clock, Carlos, still talking, stopped at the Del Monte Lodge. "We eat here," he said brusquely. "I want to go into the monkey room—may give me inspiration for that last scene."

The monkey room, a place of red leather chairs, the wall covered with a multitude of monkey keys in every conceivable endeavor—having tea—playing golf—dancing, amused Rita. They had a gay dinner and ate leisurely, though Carlos kept the waiters running desperately. Then they were on their way again, winding along the beautiful ocean road past the mansions of Pebble Beach, and at last into the sleepy little colony of Carmel.

Rita found she was to stay at the Carmel Inn only when Carlos stopped the car before the small, artistic hotel and directed the bellhop to take her bags to 210. He went with her to the desk, delivered her the key of the room and told her to sleep fast.

The cold, pine-scented air, the soothing murmur of wind through tall trees together with an overdose of fatigue lulled Rita into a deeper sleep than she had had since her father's death.

Feeling more like her old buoyant self the next morning, she slipped into a fresh blue-striped cotton frock and sauntered down to find some breakfast. But Carlos' car was there already. Carlos' houseboy grinning apologetically beside it.

"Pretty early to go to work," he touched his cap to her with the alacrity of those serving Carlos. "But Mister White said you could sleep this morning till you woke up, anyway. And he's waitin' breakfast. He says the food here is only for those contempt-platin' suicide."

Cock-eyed Work Day

RITA found Carlos waiting breakfast literally. Sitting at a table on his sun-washed, glass-enclosed porch that looked down through pine trees to the dancing blue of the sea, he had turned his plate over and was editing a page of script on the back of it, mumbling loudly to get the rhythm of the dialogue more exact.

"Come in, you hibernating daughter of Morpheus," he shouted without looking up. "That scene you had the bad taste to criticize yesterday has been murdered and resurrected. If you don't like it now, you're fired." He read it to her while the houseboy expertly served them an elaborate breakfast, then they moved into Carlos' study, a weird room of bamboo walls and leopard skins. Rita's hands flew over the typewriter keys to Carlos' dictation.

Just as Carlos' voice dropped wearily on a last "Dissolve out" and he sank into a chair beside her desk, the houseboy appeared in the doorway.

"Lunch?" he suggested hopefully.

"My God, what kind of digestive systems d'ya think we have!" Carlos roared. "We just ate breakfast!"

"Five hours ago," the houseboy grinned.

Rita laughed. "It doesn't seem possible," she admitted.

Carlos wiped his face with a huge handkerchief and yawned. "You're not so bad," he approved. "You should have heard the suggestions my last secretary gave me. Wash your hands, child. We'll grab a bite of food and then we'll really get down to work."

"After lunch, we take a siesta," Rita retorted. "My Mexican blood pressure."

She wandered with Carlos through the cottage. It was a fascinating accumulation from his years of travel. Every curio in the large, luxurious rooms had a story. There was the murderous scimitar that Carlos had won from a head hunting tribe before they could carry out their original plan of using it on him.

There were skulls dug from Mazatec, a small idol from the Easter Islands, a splinter chipped from the sphinx; there were sky-blue Chinese rugs, and deep, rich Persians. There were Indian fan chairs and monastery Tibetan prayer stools. Carlos told of them all with the same brisk, conversational zest.

The Picture

AT LUNCH he shouted insults at via telephone at his producer. After lunch he read the San Francisco paper while he smoked his pipe. Rita stacked cartons at her desk. She felt curiously light hearted and refreshed in this mad atmosphere of creative tension.

Her old enthusiasm and eagerness was welling up within her to get on with the next scene. This was the world she had lived in in the publishing house—her world the past year at Blossom Valley for the moment seemed vague and far away.

Carlos' long, low whistle cut through her reverie. "a. . . my lucky day!" he was mumbling. "This is really my lucky day!" He shook the paper at her violently as he pointed vaguely to a picture. "He's coming out to Frisco! It's a miracle!"

"Who?" Rita was casually amused. Then suddenly the paper stopped waving and she saw the picture plainly. It was Clark Pasquin!

"A miracle!" Carlos was howling. "I'll get him down here to read the script. Converting that hard-shelled stage actor to the screen will be the crowning achievement of my career."

Rita was on her feet. Her chair tipped and fell with a crash, her straining fingers gripped the edge of her desk. Carlos stared at her white, strained face in blank astonishment, as she whispered, "No—no!"

Chapter 15

Clark On The Trail

CARLOS got Rita a chair and forced brandy between her blue lips. "What hit you?" he exploded.

Rita smiled faintly. "I don't know—I've never been so—silly." She struggled to rise but he pushed her back. "Oh no you don't," he bellowed. "You don't throw a fit like that and then hold out the story. You haven't sold first world rights to it, have you?"

"And I'm not going to," Rita murmured.

Carlos picked up his paper. "From this distance," he scowled, "you couldn't have read anything on it. So I must have been the picture that had you spinning." His face lit up with sudden interest. "You know Clark Pasquin?"

"I'm going back to work," Rita struggled to her feet.

Carlos' surprise deepened into a gleam of delight. "You do know him!" he shouted. "It's a day of miracles! I knew the minute I laid eyes on you yesterday you were my girl. Probably the one secretary in Frisco who's a friend of Clark Pasquin, and I pick her!"

The paper Rita was trying to stack crumpled beneath her trembling fingers. She tried to speak casually but her voice was strident and taut. "Carlos White, you're jumping to ridiculous conclusions—as usual. I'm not a friend of—Mr. Pasquin's. I'm just a casual acquaintance."

Carlos gave a humorous snort. "Sure—with a casual way of fainting at mention of his name."

"Five thousand other girls would do that probably," Rita forced a smile. "But if you're planning a campaign for Clark Pasquin—with me in it—I'm leaving as of right now." Determined, she gathered up her hat and gloves from the desk.

Carlos watched her leavetaking with growing concern. But he didn't weaken until she had gone out and closed the door. Then he ambled rapidly after her.

"Do you have so low an opinion of my powers of persuasion that you actually believe I would use a secretary to help me influence any actor?" he shouted indignantly. "My dear child, I was merely showing what I fondly believed was a decent interest in your problems. Any business which I shall have with Clark Pasquin will be no concern of yours. I can assure you—and vice versa."

Rita searched his face suspiciously but finding no guile there. "On those conditions—all right," she gave in.

Off for San Francisco

AT BREAKFAST table the following morning Rita noticed immediately that Carlos was in business suit rather than his baggy winking tweeds. He addressed her as "Miss Rita."

"I don't want to hear of him—or think of him—and I won't see him," said Rita steadily. "Is that clear to you, Carlos?"

"That is clear to me, my hungry angel," said Carlos. "Sit down and have some omelet. An empty stomach harbors ugly thoughts."

Rita laughed helplessly. "If you were only younger," she said, "they could put you in a school for incorrigibles."

"As it is," Carlos grumbled cheerfully, "I have to work out my own education."

Christmas Meeting Of Legion Auxiliary Is Very Enjoyable

The annual Christmas party of the American Legion Auxiliary was held last evening at the Legion Home, in charge of Mrs. Marion Wilkins and her committee. Tables were decorated with silver and blue, with small Christmas cottages and blue candles.

Following dinner, Miss Gene Dolloff sang "I'm Dreaming of a White Christmas" and, with Miss Gladys Hunter, sang two pleasing duets. They were accompanied by Miss Dorothy Munksgard.

Mrs. Elmer Munksgard, president at the business session, called for reports from committee chairmen. Mrs. John Driscoll, rehabilitation chairman, reported 50 boxes were being packed for local veterans in hospitals or confined to bed at their homes. It was stated 35 cards with $1 enclosures were sent to sons of Legion or Auxiliary members in the service and airmail stamps to those overseas.

It was voted to fill 50 duffel bags for the American Red Cross; also to contribute $25 to the Russian War Relief Fund. Mrs. Harry Rogers gave a splendid report on the sale of War Bonds and Stamps, requesting continued purchase of same. Mrs. Merle Graham explained the coupon program which will be used to raise $2,500 for the purchase of a Red Cross mobile unit.

To conclude the evening, a Christmas pantomime, "Toyland Fantasy," was presented by 15 pupils from Katherine Dawn Williams' dancing classes, featuring Miss Sonia Lee Goering as The Spirit of Christmas.

Grade School Girl Reserves Unite In Holiday Program

On Tuesday afternoon grade school Girl Reserve clubs of the YWCA met in the school gym for their annual Christmas party and enjoyed a delightful program.

Opening, South street girls were accompanied by Lois Hulings for a musical selection. "That's What I Want for Christmas," followed by a play, "The Magic Tree," given by the following: Johnson school Reserves; Ruth Dunkle, Joyce Wilson, Virginia, and Patricia Collins, Marilyn Brasington, Neva Nelson, Joan Orcutt, Jerry Lias, Violet Rice, Arden Auman, Ruth Davis and Margaret Eustice.

Informal carol singing was led by Corinne Culbertson, of the McClintock unit, with Elizabeth Dunham at the piano. Miss Dunham, of East street, played a piano solo, "A Sonatina in Three Movements" by Clementi and Lucy girls presented a play, "The Spirit of Christmas," in which the following appeared: Martha Ryberg, Nancy O'Dell, Shirley Johnson, Helen Walker, Katherine Hornstrom, Jeanine Turner, Margaret Mathyer, Nancy Hesch, Nancy Larson, Marilyn Carlson, Teresa Sheetz, and Barbara Carlson.

After refreshments, gifts were distributed by Santa Claus. Assisting with the plans were the following grade school advisors: Dorothy Munksgard, Jane Streich, Marguerite Meier, Jane Mahaffey, Ann and Bernice Johnson.

Caroling Presented In New Light Before Blue Stocking Club

The Christmas meeting of Blue Stocking Club was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Brackett Ayers, with Mrs. Vance Weld as assistant hostess.

After routine business conducted by the president, Mrs. Harriet Wilkins gave a most enjoyable program, stories of Christmas carols, based on material prepared by Prof. Peter W. Dykema of Columbia University.

Bringing out the idea that carols are of two main types, religious and convivial, Mrs. Wilkins illustrated and gave the history of many in each class. She explained that although chants celebrating the nativity had been sung in the very early days of the Christian church, much of the Christmas caroling has grown out of a play arranged by St. Francis of Assisi in 1223. Mrs. Wilkins finished by playing and singing a group of carols.

Tea was served from a table done in Christmas greens and presided over by Mrs. P. S. Tarbox and Mrs. W. E. Lutz.

The next meeting will be January 5, the annual mid-year luncheon at the YWCA, with Mrs. S. D. Blackman, Mrs. Maude Winger and Mrs. J. H. West as the committee in charge and Mrs. Magno de Carvalho as guest speaker.

*Your ELECTRIC RANGE

KEEP IT WORKING

Electric cooking is a great help in the correct preparation of nutritious meals. Do right by your electric range—take care of it and it will take care of you. Here are a few wartime tips for electric range owners.

- ◆ Rotate the use of surface units—they will last longer. Make each one do its duty.
- ◆ Most surface units can be raised and the pan beneath removed for cleaning. Check manufacturer's cleaning recommendations.
- ◆ Remove spilled food when oven has cooled. Wash outside of range with warm soapy water.
- ◆ Cook more full meals in the oven and the Economy Cooker. It's an economical way to cook.
- ◆ Make full use of the efficient clock-control on your electric range. It will give you lots of free time for other wartime duties.

It's a wise idea to have your electric appliance service man make a periodic check-up of your electric range to make sure that everything is working properly. His recommendations might save you money and inconvenience later on.

Will Recruit Air Patrol In High School

By direction of the Wing Commander, a unit of Civil Air Patrol Cadets will be recruited from students in the junior and senior classes of Warren High School under the sponsorship of Squadron 315-3, Civil Air Patrol under the command of Fred A. Schuler.

Due to transportation difficulties only students living within the limits of the Borough will be enlisted at this time. Each Cadet is required to take and satisfactorily complete the ground studies issued as training directives to regular members of Civil Air Patrol. The basic course of eighty hours stresses Military Courtesy and Discipline, Infantry drill, First Aid, Gas Protection, Military Secrecy, and Signalling. The advance course of one hundred fifty hours includes Crash Procedure, Meteorology and Air Navigation. Courses will be held one night each week under competent instructors and regular attendance is required.

Cadets will be privileged to wear the uniform of the Civil Air Patrol with distinguishing insignia, will attend ordered formations and will be eligible for membership in Civil Air Patrol upon graduation from high school. Membership in the Cadets is on a non-flying basis and Cadets will not be permitted to fly without parents' permission. Membership in the Cadets gives a pre-flight training that qualifies the Cadet for advanced ratings in the regular military forces of the nation.

A list of names of boys and girls of high scholastic standing in the junior and senior classes of Warren High School has been secured and blank applications will be mailed shortly to those boys and girls selected as suitable for membership in Civil Air Patrol Cadets.

Public May Buy Tickets For Any Lecture

A change in policy regarding the sale of admission tickets for the Y. M. C. A. Lecture-Forum, due to the peculiar needs and conditions existing this year, was announced this morning by Robert W. Mackay, chairman of the committee in charge of the outstanding educational series of events. Heretofore, if admission tickets for a single lecture were sold at all, it was done only for the third and fourth events of the series, but the change in policy will make the one-night admission possible this year beginning tomorrow evening with the opening lecture.

Many persons have expressed a desire to hear the famous news correspondent, James R. Young, but are uncertain about their being able to attend other lectures. The new policy of the Y. M. C. A. makes it possible for these people to participate in the big opening feature without getting a series ticket.

Mr. Young, who spent thirteen years as a newspaper man in the Far East, most of them in Japan, is not impressed by Japan's initial successes in the Pacific of the Pacific. He believes that Japan is today the land of the setting sun. This man who was jailed and put

THUMBNAIL HISTORY OF U. S. ARMY DIVISIONS

ELEVENTH DIVISION

The Eleventh Division, less artillery, was organized at Camp Meade, Maryland, in August, 1918. The 24th Field Artillery Brigade was organized and trained at West Point, Kentucky. The 17th and 63d Infantry were organizations of the Regular Army, but all units were made up largely of drafted men. The Division was prepared for departure overseas in November, 1918, when the signing of the Armistice stopped all further troop movement. Major General Jesse M. Carter was assigned to its command. Except for Regular Army units it was demobilized in February, 1919. Its insignia is a bust of Lafayette in blue superimposed on a red disk.

TWELFTH DIVISION

The Twelfth (Plymouth) Division, composed largely of drafted men from the New England States with a nucleus of men from regular units, was organized at Camp Devens, Massachusetts, except its artillery brigade which was formed at Camp McClellan, Alabama. Major General H. P. McCain was assigned to its command. The Division was prepared for departure overseas when the Armistice was signed and it was demobilized in January, 1919. Its insignia is a black diamond upon which is superimposed the figure 12 pierced by a bayonet.

TWENTY-SIXTH DIVISION

The Twenty-sixth Division, popularly known as the "Yankee Division," was organized in Boston in August, 1917, from National Guard troops of the New England States supplemented by a small quota of National Army men. It arrived overseas in Autumn, 1917, and went to the front lines in the Chemin des Dames sector early in February, 1918. In April it was involved in the Salcheprey Raid and repulsed an enemy attack with heavy losses. In succeeding operations including the Boucq and Chateau-Thierry sectors, the Champagne-Marne defensive, the Aisne-Marne, St. Mihiel and the Meuse-Argonne offensives the Division was heavily engaged. It took 3,148 prisoners. Its casualties totalled 11,325. Major General Clarence Edwards commanded the Division from its organization until October 24, 1918. Its insignia is a dark monogram YD on a diamond-shaped field of olive drab.

TWENTY-SEVENTH DIVISION

The Twenty-seventh Division, composed of New York National Guard troops, was organized in September, 1917, at Camp Vardworth, South Carolina. It arrived overseas early in the summer of 1918 and almost immediately moved to the front line, participating in active sectors in Belgium. It took part in the Ypres-Lys, the Somme and the Meuse-Argonne Offensives. The Division captured 2,357 prisoners and its casualties totalled 8,986. It was commanded by Major General John F. O'Ryan. It returned to New York in March, 1919. Its insignia is a red-bordered black circle with the letters NYD in monogram surrounded by seven stars, placed in the constellation of Orion.

TWENTY-EIGHTH DIVISION

The Twenty-eighth (Keystone) Division, composed of troops of the Pennsylvania National Guard, was organized at Camp Hancock, Georgia, in September, 1917, and received its baptism of fire in desperate fighting in the Chateau-Thierry sector early in July, 1918. It participated in the Champagne-Marne defensive, the Aisne-Marne offensive, in the Fismes sector, the Oise-Aisne and Meuse-Argonne offensives and the Thiaucourt sector, remaining on the firing line at the signing of the Armistice. Its artillery units were active in the Oise-Aisne and Meuse-Argonne offensives and with the closing drama in the Ypres-Lys offensives in Belgium. The Division took 921 prisoners and its casualties totalled 13,980. It was commanded by Major General Charles H. Muir. Its insignia is a red keystone.

NOTE—Divisions numbered from 13 to 25 have not been activated.

Idea of East-West Leagues Is Being Discussed Again

Washington, Dec. 16—(AP)—The once hot, then cold proposal to divide major league baseball into eastern and western divisions to save rail travel came to a lukewarm stage today with nobody apparently willing to forecast which way the temperature would go next.

Commenting on the suggestion advanced by some eastern newspapers a few weeks ago, Joseph E. Eastman, director of the Office of Defense Transportation, stirred up the fires a bit last night when he declared that "if the leagues want to adopt the plan it would fit in very nicely with what we are trying to do."

Most available league officials immediately doused the idea with cold water, the most frigid splash coming from Eddie Collins, general manager of the Boston Red Sox.

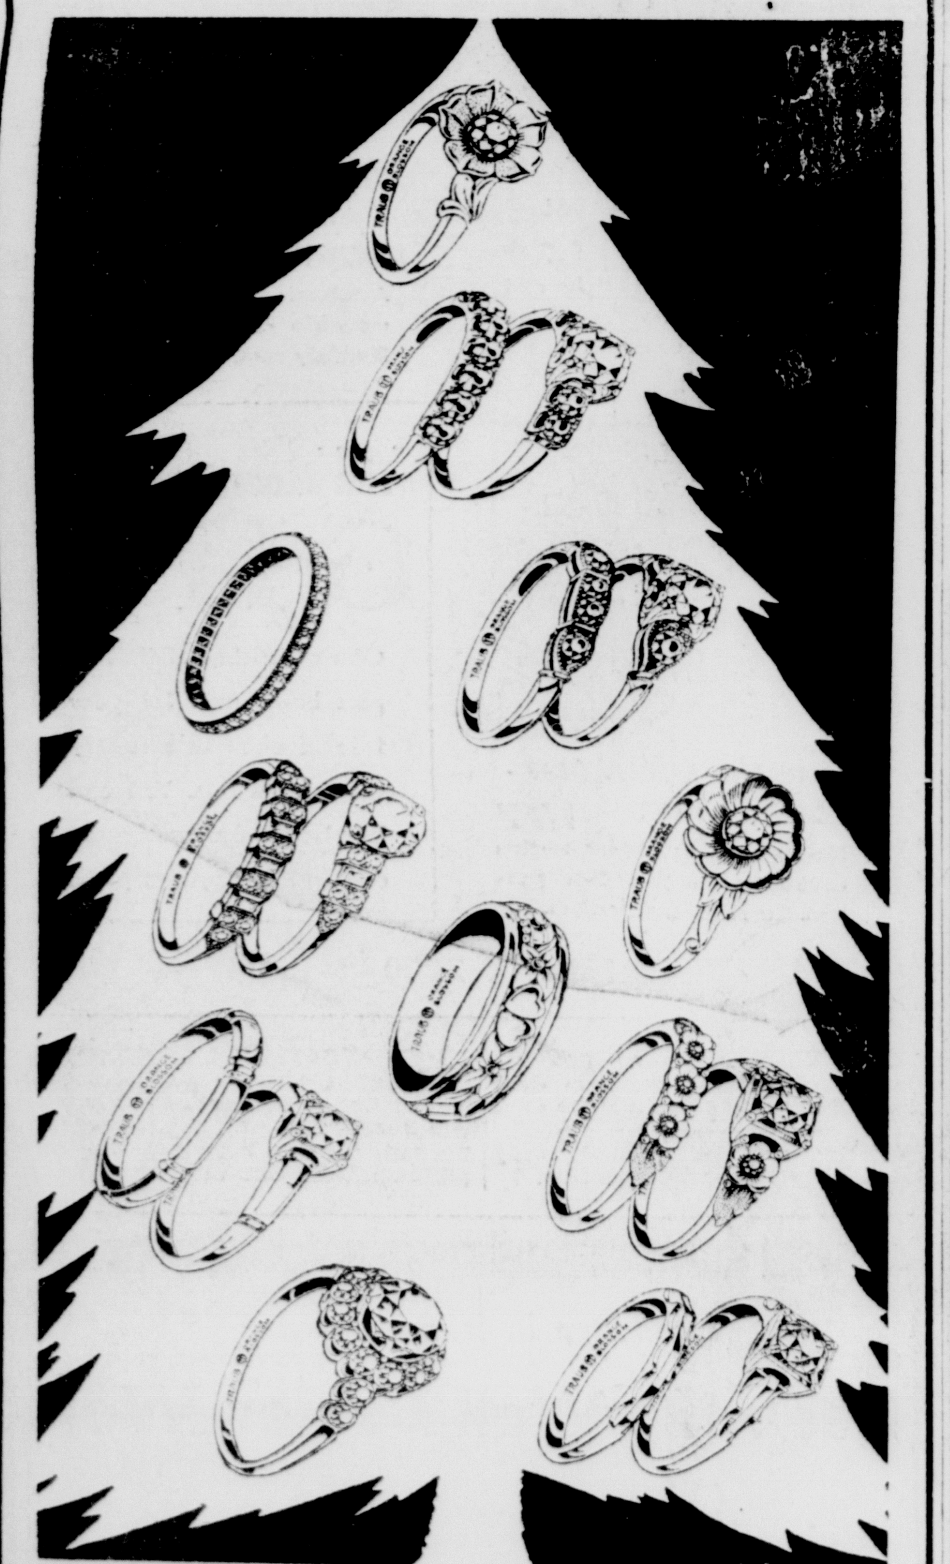

"The idea doesn't appeal to us at all," observed Collins. "If it must come to that stage, baseball should call it a day."

The matter popped up again when the Philadelphia Record said that the ODT is "giving serious consideration" to the plan.

The proposed east league would include the American's New York, Philadelphia, Boston and Wash-

Beware Coughs from common colds That Hang On

Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. Tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

CAPITAL GOSSIP

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — There have been lots of moving days in Washington in the last couple of years, but January 3, 1943, will be the biggest mess of a moving day that Capitol Hill has seen in many a moon.

Into the new and old House office buildings on (or about—it will really take weeks to get the muddle straightened out) that date will come 106 new members of the House of Representatives. If the only problem were moving 106 Congressmen into offices vacated by 106 Congressmen, the problem would be pretty simple for Edward Brown, superintendent of the House office buildings. But it's a good deal more complicated than that.

For example, there are many holdover congressmen who are dissatisfied with their present offices. These Congressmen have seniority. They have a priority on offices being vacated. They also have priorities (seniority) on each other. Consequently, every request has to be labelled according to the Congressman's rights.

This Congressmen can't stand the bright afternoon sunlight. Another can't take it in the morning. A third wants to be closer to his two old cronies. A fourth wants to be in the "New" House office building. A fifth wants back in the "Old" House office building because the ceilings are higher there and he doesn't feel so "cramped up."

THAT may give you some idea of the pains in the neck that are keeping Brown awake these nights. Before it is over he will probably have settled and resettled 200 new and holdover Congressmen. Some of them are bound to be dissatisfied and won't be too keen on rehiring Brown. Is it any wonder that the hard-working and constantly harassed superintendent is nursing a biennial headache?

The business of getting a new Congress settled into the working groove is much more of a task than the public (or even most of the "congressmen") realizes.

Before any new member of Congress can take his seat, South Trimble, clerk of the House, has to have his certification (which comes from the governor of the state in which he was elected) on hand and in proper form. Without this, no incoming member of the House or, for that matter, any reelected member of the House can take his seat in the new Congress.

Back of that are the statements of campaign expenditures which, by law, also have to be filed with the clerk. This includes not only a statement from the elected candidate but also reports from all his opponents. In the recent campaign, these statements numbered over 2,000.

WHEN the 106 new members arrive, each has to be instructed into the various complications of getting settled on the Congressional roles. There is the business of obtaining his signature for franking privileges and his biography for the Congressional Record; of instructing him about allowances, commutation, clerk hire, applications for committee assignments, how and when he (or she) will take the office, and 1,001 other details that all freshmen Congressmen must be told about before they can settle into their seats on House floor and start representing their constituents.

Donald Walter had the misfortune to break a vertebra in his neck last Friday. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Walter, at the advice of a local physician, took him to the hospital in Grove City, where he was placed in a cast. They expect to bring him home next Thursday, but it may be necessary for him to remain in the cast for about four weeks.

Lieut. and Mrs. Dewitt Zahniser and his mother, Mrs. E. E. Swanson, of Meadville, have been spending a couple of days as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Canfield. Lieut. Zahniser received his commission at Fort Knox, but has been at the following training camps: Polk, La.; Hood and Temple in Texas; and Hood and Temple in California.

For the last five months he has been at Camp Pickett in Virginia. His wife recently drove their car through from California, accompanied by two officers' wives.

Mr. and Mrs. James Lucas and Mary Anne visited their aunt, Mrs. Elsie Kahle, at Siegel.

Mrs. Cleo Carr, of Corry, who is visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. Catherine Carr, of West Main street, fell Sunday while on her way to church and severely hurt her wrist.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Clark entertained the Adult Bible Class of the Lutheran church at their home Monday evening. They enjoyed a program, games and gifts. A turkey lunch was served at a late hour.

At the business meeting they decided to make their offering a white gift to be used for needy purposes.

New Governor's Opposed To Brooks Plan

(From Page One)
While Martin indicated strong opposition to the Brooks plan, it was learned his administration probably would study the number of liquor licenses in existence with the aim of amending the present law to provide more authority for eliminating those not complying with regulations.

Martin said he knew nothing of the source of reports that his first act as governor would be to dismiss two members of the Liquor Board, Chairman Frederick T. Golder and W. Worrell Wagner.

TIMES TOPICS

CAR OWNER FOUND

The presence of a small coupe parked on the Hickory street bridge for the past ten days aroused the curiosity of south side residents. A police investigation disclosed the fact that it belonged to a man who resides with a family on Crescent Park and the vehicle was moved this morning. The police were informed that the man had been ill.

FAREWELL EVENT

Employees of the Struthers-Wells firm gathered at the Marconi Club last evening for a dinner and farewell party for Gilbert Brown, who left this morning for Seabees assignment at Camp Endicott, Davisville, R. I. He was presented with a number of nice gifts from the group. Mrs. Brown accompanied him as far as Buffalo today.

MICHAEL NEIZEMIK

Michael Neizemik, well known resident of McKane hill, near Tidewater, died at the Warren General Hospital last evening after an illness of twelve months. Removal was made to the Hull funeral home at Youngville and the body will be taken to the family residence later today. Plans for the funeral and more complete obituary will be published later.

Work-Weary Congress Is Adjourning

Due, and this year, even deeper to find an additional $68,000,000. Millions of new taxpayers were called upon to contribute to the cost of war expenditures.

Appropriation followed appropriation in those early days of the session to convert the broomstick guns and the tin can cannon used by green troops in early maneuvers into death-dealing weapons of modern warfare.

Major measures passed before the outbreak of war included the lend-lease bill and legislation to permit the arming of merchant ships, which then were authorized to sail into war zones with supplies for the country's future allies.

Even the step-up of defense legislation on Japan, Germany, Italy, Rumania, Bulgaria, and Hungary, and then the legislative machinery into high gear.

In the face of the dictators' challenge that democracy is outmoded, congress provided for a two-ocean navy, an army designed to reach a strength of 7,500,000 men, and an air force intended to achieve mastery of the sky.

Unprecedented powers were granted President Roosevelt to free his hands from normal peace-time restrictions. The ban against use of United States troops on foreign soil was lifted. Salaries and wages were stabilized at home.

Laws were passed to protect the soldiers' civilian interests, to give him the right to vote away from home, to boost his base pay from $21 to $50. The draft age was lowered to 18.

Women were accorded a place in the ranks. First congress created the WAACS—the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps—then their counterparts in the navy and the coastguard, the WAVES and SPARS—for behind-the-lines service to relieve men for duty at the front.

Classical League Has Fine Program

The Junior Classical League of the high school, under the direction of Miss Glenda Gilmore, held its annual Christmas party in the auditorium last evening, with 125 Latin pupils present.

Opening with "Adeste Fideles", the first part of the program was given as a radio entertainment announced by Betty Seely, senior consul, assisted by Myron King, operator. Those taking part were Maxine Beebe, Mary Williams, Joan Nicholson, Marilyn Emery, Alice Alexander, Helen Claire Hulings, Ruth Ann Lewis and Jeanette King.

The second part was a pageant, "When Christ Was Born", with the following cast: the cast: Vicia Knudsgaard, Bob Dietrich, Gloria Hausman, Rachel Blomquist, Hugh Jamieson, Carl De Stefano, John Weller, Dudley King, Joyce Anderson, Jane Mahaffey, Bill Smith. Stage managers were Fernando de Carvalho and Betty Seely.

At the conclusion of the program, Nick Geracimo as Santa Claus presented each pupil with a gift and refreshments were served by Alice Munksgaard, Emilie Anderson and Dorothy Peterson.

Christmas decorations for the party were in charge of Charles Leuthold, Dick Pryce, Nick Geracimo, Dick Korb, Ruth Eaton and Ann Burkhard.

GARLAND

The pancake supper sponsored by the Presbyterian church and held last week in the building known as the Ray Richard place, recently purchased by Mr. Irwin, was well attended and a nice sum realized.

Daisy Warner Campbell and Mildred Hamilton Mays were two former Garland ladies who were back in this vicinity for a little deer hunting and incidentally meeting old friends. Both are now residents of Titusville.

Stanley Taydus, of the United States Army, is back for his first furlough with his parents here.

Miss Ethel Morris entertained recently for Charles Briggs, who has recently been inducted into the army.

Jack Selter is closing his place of business and plans for a vacation in California. The residents occupying the cabins will continue to live there until he returns.

The following residents in this vicinity have recently brought home the bacon in the form of a big buck: John Bednar, Andy Bednar, John Zolko and John Kaspdyk.

Arthur Kane has been enjoying a week's vacation from his duties in the N. Y. C. station. He and Mrs. Kane have spent some time hunting deer.

The heavy snowfall that turned the valley into a veritable fairyland, has subsided somewhat.

SUGAR GROVE

Sugar Grove, Dec. 15—The annual Christmas party of the Try Company Class was enjoyed at the home of Miss Josephine Ricker, with Mrs. J. A. McIntosh, assisting hostess. The home was decorated in Christmas greens with a decorated trunk from which the guests drew their gifts. Mrs. Conrad Youngberg, vice president, conducted the business meeting. The devotions were in charge of Mrs. Scott Stuart, included the Christmas story in scripture and carols. Mrs. Carl Perrin gave two readings. Dainty refreshments in keeping with the holiday were served at tables. Mrs. Stuart Anderson and Mrs. Scott Stuart, will entertain the January meeting.

Seventeen babies and small children were examined at the Child Health Center Wednesday by Dr. A. A. Grant and Miss Betty Gentilman, R. N. state nurse. Nine of these were given toxoid anti toxin. Mrs. Stuart Anderson, R. N. is the local chairman of this project which is sponsored by the Sugar Grove Reading Club. Mrs. Hertzog, a member of the staff of the Warren Child Health Center was a visitor.

Robert Conklin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Conklin, is a patient in the hospital at Indiantown Gap, where he submitted to an operation. He reentered the service, November 29.

Mrs. John Stuart and Mary Winchester, are guests of Mrs. Eskil Peterson, Baker street Extension.

Arthur Cody is a business visitor in Bridgeport, Conn.

M. L. Johnson, who has been ill the past month is slowly improving.

The only U. S. Forest Products Laboratory in the country is located at Madison, Wisconsin.
